HOW TO FILE A WAGE CLAIM

PLEASE DO NOT COMPLETE FORMS UNTIL YOU HAVE READ INSTRUCTIONS BELOW

Fill out the wage claim packet and return it to this office at an address listed above or statewide.wagehour@alaska.gov. Please include any documents that may help strengthen your claim. Some examples are included below in the tips section.

- Page 1. The Wage Claim Form gives the Department information, details, and history about your case. The form must be complete and exact. PLEASE NOTE, you are the moving party and carry the initial burden of proof.
- Page 2. Calculation Sheet. Fill out to the best of your ability.
- Page 3. Statement of Claimant: In your own words, write a statement about your claim.
- Page 4. Additional room for statement.
- Page 5. The Assignment gives the Department of Labor & Workforce Development permission to take legal action and/or collect money on your behalf. If your claim progresses to Small Claims Court we may request a notarized copy of this form.
- Pages 6/7. Worksheets to record the hours you worked each day and each week. Be as exact as you can.

TIPS FOR FILING A CLAIM:

Please furnish the following as attachments:

1. Copies of your personal time records;
2. A copy of your hiring agreement;
3. A copy of the company policy that supports your claim, if one exists;
4. Documentation if your union has helped you with this problem;
5. The question "Occupation when claim occurred?" asks what your job description was at the time of the claim. For example: carpenter, truck driver, clerk, manager, etc.;
6. To claim return transportation, your employer must have furnished or financed your transportation to the place of work;
7. If the claim is for NSF checks, we must have the original NSF check. If you do not have the check, we must have the name of the bank, merchant, etc., who holds the check;
8. If you believe your claim is complex, you may include a letter explaining the claim.

HOW WE PROCESS WAGE CLAIMS

Claim Review: Submission of your wage claim does not constitute acceptance by the Department. The Department is not required to accept all wage claims. Acceptance is based upon the cost to the state to enforce the claim, the strength of the proof supporting the claim, and the current enforcement focus of the Department. All claims will be reviewed for acceptance. If additional information is needed to make a determination an investigator will contact you. An acceptance determination should be made within two weeks.

Notice to the Employer: Once a claim is accepted and assigned to an investigator, a notice of claim and demand letter is sent to the employer. Twenty days are allowed for the employer to respond. Depending on Investigator case load, it may take time before your claim letter is mailed. Once the demand letter is sent, the claim is set for follow-up. Follow-up dates vary with investigator caseloads.

Informal Meetings: Both sides will be given a chance to explain their positions and support them with testimony, documents or witnesses. The Investigator will explain the laws and attempt to reach a settlement. If needed, extra time may be granted.

Court Action: If an employer will not pay, and if the Department believes the claim has merit, the case may be filed in court. It may take up to two (2) years to resolve a claim in court. If the wages are less than $20,000, the case may be filed in Small Claims Court. You must be willing to appear and testify in a Department meeting or in court. Failure to appear may result in the Department or the court ruling against you. Failure to keep the Department informed of your current mailing address and phone number might result in the closure of your claim. As the assignee of your claim, the Department is permitted to adjust the amount of your claim if it receives a settlement offer.

Penalties: The Department will request penalties if a claim is filed in court. Penalties or damages may be granted by the court.

Judgments: Winning in court results in a judgment. However, judgments are hard to collect. You may be asked to assist the Department in finding assets. Therefore, the Department may assign the judgment to you to collect.

How You Can Help: Please contact only the investigator in charge of your claim. Please do not call for updates on your claim until after the 20-day response date. Cases are handled in the order they are filed. Besides wage claims, Wage & Hour must provide many types of support to the public. Filing a wage claim with the Department should be your last resort. In most cases, your claim will not be accepted until you make a personal demand for your wages.

Options: You may request reassignment of your claim. If the Department finds that an issue of public protection exists, your request to reassign your claim may be denied. You may not pursue an action through a lawyer, or on your own, until the Department reassigns the claim in writing. If your claim is reassigned, you may:

1. file a complaint in Small Claims Court if the amount is less than $10,000; or

2. hire a lawyer.

A REQUEST TO REASSIGN YOUR WAGE CLAIM MUST BE MADE BEFORE THE DEPARTMENT ACCEPTS A SETTLEMENT OFFER.
